

As a behavioral pediatrician who works with many children with ADHD, I find that the authorization procedure for intuniv is very cumbersome and in many cases delays the optimal treatment. Intuniv work particularly well for those children with a combination of ADHD and ODD. Strattera is rarely as effective. I do not feel that a trial on strattera should be necessary before trying intuniv.

Thank you.